The Eco Fiendly GREEN PAN

The Perfect Pan: Non-stick and Eco-friendly

The company's headquarters are located in Belgium

*Manufacturer's Quote:

GreenPan™ is on a mission to help support the global challenges of living in our modern society. We are bringing 'sustainability' [convenient + sustainable] to the cookware you use in your home. Convenient as we don't ask you to change your lifestyle, sustainable as we are preserving the natural resources of our planet in a responsible way. We strongly believe there is enough common sense in the world to realize that there is only one Earth to share and we must protect it. Unfortunately, with some decisions we have to make we don't always have choices. We at GreenPan™ are committed to providing you with choices by offering you products that really will make a difference for your carbon 'footprint'. You don't have to change the way you live; we have changed the way the products are made.

*You can purchase this item in store from our online shop in the frying pan section

Anthea's kitchen are now stocking the famous Japanese Shun Knives

Jodes SHUN-Messer ist ein Kunstwerk

SHUN Series

The Shun chef's knife series is one of the world's most extensive knife series made of damask steel. It is well received among the cooking elite and ambitious hobby chefs. Shun professional chef's knives are made from a newly developed stainless damask steel with 32 layers. The inner layer is made from V-gold-10 steel. This steel is highly resistant to corrosion, extremely hard (61±1 HRC, 1.0% carbon, 1.5% cobalt) and the reason for the blade being incomparably and lastingly sharp.

The convex blade profile in combination with the hand honing of each Shun knife makes for an unrivalled sharpness that allows the knife to glide softly through even the toughest foodstuffs. Paired with the knife's well-balanced weight this sharpness allows for non-fatigue work.

The refinement of the natural beauty of the damask structure gives each SHUN knife its unique and individual character. Thus every single SHUN knife is turned into a unique specimen – a piece of art that combines craftsmanship, technology and design.

The SHUN chef's knife series has adapted the manufacturing technique for the finest chef's knives - which derives from the Japanese way of forging Samurai swords - to the production of Western-style blades.

For more information on Shun Knives Click Here. Please note Many of these knives are not yet available in Australia
